DEZINE & BUILD

A design and build company is a firm that offers comprehensive, end-to-end services for construction projects, handling both the design phase and the construction execution under one roof. This "one-stop-shop" approach provides a single point of responsibility and a single contract for the client, fostering collaboration between design and construction teams from the outset. The goal is a streamlined process that improves communication, speeds up project timelines, and ensures the final build aligns with the design vision and budget.
